

	Assessment guidelines for students' know-how and skills (master's level) information-based know-how (a), skills-based know-how (b), responsibility, management, entrepreneurship, evaluation (c,d,e,f), lifelong learning
LEVEL	Graduation-level know-how and skills: Students
5	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. can evaluate and make critical use of multidisciplinary data in their field of expertise by producing new points of view. b. solve creatively complex problems in research, development and innovation c. evaluate and manage independently and successfully operations involving individuals and teams. d. be responsible for operations and develop them independently and systematically. e. use new strategic approaches as management tools in complex and unfamiliar situations. f. work independently in demanding expert duties of their professional field or as entrepreneurs g. communicate and interact in demanding international contexts of their field of expertise.
3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. find, study, produce and evaluate critically multidisciplinary data in their field of expertise. b. solve demanding problems in research, development and innovation c. evaluate and manage independently operations involving individuals and teams. d. be responsible for operations and develop them independently. e. evaluate different strategic approaches and justify their use in terms of management and development. f. work independently in the expert duties of their professional field or as entrepreneurs. g. communicate proficiently and systematically in their spoken and written native language and in one foreign language.
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. find, study, produce and evaluate data comprehensively in their field of expertise. b. solve problems in research, development and innovation c. evaluate and manage operations involving individuals and teams. d. be responsible for operations and develop them. e. use different strategic approaches in management. f. work in the expert duties of their professional field or as entrepreneurs. g. communicate accurately both in spoken and written native language and use foreign language data.
	Also the ability to continuous learning is applied in the graduation-level assessment.