

Call for Trainees / Visiting Researchers in Spring 2023!

Welcome to Juvenia!

In Juvenia - Youth Research and Development Centre we combine youth research and youth development. Juvenia is part of the South-Eastern Finland University of Applied Sciences (Xamk) and we have been operating since 2008.

We carry out local, national and international projects in the field of youth. Central themes in our work are:

- Youth-oriented research and development
- Community and equality
- Inclusion and participation of young people
- Education, work and future
- Youth environmental awareness

What we offer for you?

For international exchange, we have two options available:

- 2-4 months practical training in spring 2023 for Bachelor's or Master's level students. The training is unpaid, but there might be a grant available for exchange students at your home university (ask more about this from your own international coordinator). Juvenia will provide to you a working space, personal guidance from our staff and a unique introduction to Finnish youth field as well as to high-level youth research and development work.
- If you are a PhD student or working as a researcher in the field of youth, we would be happy to host you as an visiting researcher in Juvenia! Researcher visit is unpaid, so we suggest you to discuss the possible sources of funding with your own home institution. Juvenia will provide you with a working space and an introduction to Finnish youth field and youth research as well as a chance to network with our research and development community.

What are we expecting from you?

Ideally, you are working (or interested in working) with youth or studying a subject related to youth field and / or youth research. We are happy to receive applications from people with various backgrounds.

The most important thing is that you are highly motivated to do an exchange with us in Juvenia. The training tasks will be adjusted according to your specific interests, but some useful competences include:

- Pedagogical skills (with groups or individuals)
- Social skills
- Willingness to work in different kinds of environments (university, schools, youth clubs etc.) and with different kind of people (all ages, immigrants, NEETs)
- Media skills (writing, video etc.)
- Cultural or artistic skills
